

Dextenza in the Post-op Management of Vitreoretinal Surgeries

NCT04371445

| | |
|-------------------|----------------------|
| Status | RECRUITING |
| Phase | Phase 4 |
| Sponsor | The Cleveland Clinic |
| Enrollment | 30 participants |

Key Eligibility Criteria

Inclusion (2)

- Men and women >18 years old
- Planning to undergo vitreoretinal surgery with the procedure type of pars plana vitrectomy for either the indication of macular hole, epiretinal membrane removal, or vitreomacular traction.

Exclusion (17)

- Patients undergoing combined cataract or glaucoma procedure, intraocular lens exchange, scleral buckle, and/or implant of a drug delivery system
- History of complications, trauma, adverse events, disease in nasolacrimal region, including dacryocystitis, canaliculitis in either eye
- Structural lid abnormalities such as ectropion or entropion in surgical eye
- Ongoing use of systemic narcotic pain relievers
- Presence of any intraocular inflammation (cells and flare) in the study eye at screening/baseline
- ... and 12 more (see full listing online)

Locations (1 total)

Cole Eye Institute, Cleveland Clinic, Cleveland, Ohio, United States