

Researching the Useful of Barb Suture in Obese Patients Undergoing Posterior Cervical Surgery

NCT05895968

Status	RECRUITING
Phase	Not Applicable
Sponsor	Xijing Hospital
Enrollment	60 participants

Key Eligibility Criteria

Inclusion (4)

- Symptoms and signs of the patients were typical. MRI showed single or multiple central herniation of C3-C7 intervertebral discs or spinal stenosis at corresponding levels, which confirmed cervical myeloid cervical spondylosis or cervical spinal stenosis.
- Preoperative routine tests and examinations showed no contraindications.
- BMle28
- Informed consent was obtained from the patient and his family, informed consent was signed, and a complete follow-up was completed after surgery.

Exclusion (9)

- A history of wasting diseases associated with malignancy and chemoradiotherapy that may interfere with wound healing
- History of dermatosis
- History of immune system diseases
- History of blood diseases
- Skin injury or defect at the back of the neck
- ... and 4 more (see full listing online)

Locations (1 total)

Jia Yanyan, Xi'an, Shannxi Province, China