

Wearable Device-Based Analysis of the Relationship Between Sleep Patterns and Clinical Prognosis in Patients With Traumatic Brain Injury

NCT06790979

Status RECRUITING
Sponsor General Hospital of Ningxia Medical University
Enrollment 50 participants

Key Eligibility Criteria

Inclusion (5)

- 18-60 years old.
- The patient had no sleep disturbance problems prior to traumatic brain injury.
- The patient has a definite diagnosis of traumatic brain injury and the Glasgow score is ≥ 8 .
- The patient had abnormal imaging scans.
- It has complete preclinical data.

Exclusion (5)

- Patients with a previous history of traumatic brain injury, mental illness, alcohol abuse or sleep disorders.
- Patients admitted for surgical intervention.
- Patients with a combination of other heavy visceral injuries.
- Women during pregnancy and lactation.
- The patients' use of medications that interfere with sleep

Locations (1 total)

The General Hospital of Ningxia Medical University, Yinchuan, Ningxia, China