

Prospective, Randomized Comparative Study Between an Anesthesiological, Ultrasound-guided, and a Laparoscopic, Landmark-based Application of a "Transversus Abdominis Plane (TAP) Block" Based on Postoperative Pain Perception, Postoperative Analgesic Requirement, and Procedure Duration

NCT06876155

Status	RECRUITING
Phase	Not Applicable
Sponsor	Sana Klinikum Offenbach
Enrollment	64 participants

Key Eligibility Criteria

Inclusion (2)

- Consent of the adult patient
- Elective laparoscopic-assisted colorectal surgery, elective laparoscopic cholecystectomy, or elective laparoscopic fundoplication

Exclusion (14)

- Lack of patient consent
- Pregnancy and breastfeeding
- Allergies to local anaesthetics used
- Infections at the puncture sites
- History of complex abdominal wall reconstruction

... and 9 more (see full listing online)

Locations (1 total)

Director of the Department of Anaesthesiology, Intensive Care Medicine, and Pain Therapy at the Sana Klinikum Offenbach, Offenbach, Hesse, Germany