

Resting-State Functional Connectivity as a Predictor of tDCS Effects in Adolescents With Autism Spectrum Disorder

NCT06878326

| | |
|-------------------|--------------------------------------|
| Status | RECRUITING |
| Phase | Not Applicable |
| Sponsor | The Hong Kong Polytechnic University |
| Enrollment | 90 participants |

Key Eligibility Criteria

Inclusion (3)

- being 12-22 years old
- diagnosed with ASD given by registered psychiatrists or clinical psychologists according to the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders-5th Edition (DSM-5) criteria of ASD
- able to communicate in Chinese

Exclusion (3)

- without a confirmed diagnosis from the clinical psychologist
- history of other neurological and psychiatric disorders and head trauma
- on psychiatric medication

Locations (1 total)

The Hong Kong Polytechnic University, Hung Hom, Kowloon, Hong Kong