

Intralesional Therapies For Cutaneous Viral Warts: A Comparative Analysis Of Vitamin D3 And Acyclovir

NCT07448844

Status	RECRUITING
Phase	Phase 4
Sponsor	Riphah International University
Enrollment	40 participants

Key Eligibility Criteria

Inclusion (3)

- Patients aged 12 years and above with clinically diagnosed cutaneous warts
- Common, plantar, flat, or periungual warts
- Both treatment-naïve patients and those with recalcitrant warts

Exclusion (6)

- Pregnant or lactating women
- Immunocompromised patients
- Individuals with history of hypersensitivity to vitamin D3 or acyclovir
- Individuals receiving systemic immunosuppressive or antiviral therapy
- Patients with secondary infection at injection site

... and 1 more (see full listing online)

Locations (2 total)

Railway General Hospital, Railway Carriage Factory Rd, Railway Scheme 7, Rawalpindi, Rawalpindi, Punjab Province, Pakistan
Riphah International Hospital, Islamabad Expy, Sector A DHA Phase 5, Islamabad, Islamabad, Pakistan